DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 10-11 and 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 10, lines 14-15, the limitation "the physical properties of the coating indicate that it was formed by solidification during rotation" appears to be new matter. Similarly, in claim 11, lines 14-16, the limitation "the physical properties of the coating indicate that it was separated from the extension body after the substantial solidification" appears to be new matter. The Examiner could not locate disclosure in the specification stating that the solidification during or separation from the extension body after solidification affects the physical properties of the coating.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 9, 12, and 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 9, line 16, the phrase “in a few mm” renders the claim vague and indefinite because it is not clear what the metes and bounds of “few” are.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by Nishida et al. (US 6,349,086).

Nishida et al. discloses a circular optical disc which is substantially free from optical birefringence in a few mm broad peripheral zone, which has physical properties indicating that it was formed by solidification during rotation, and whereby the physical properties of the coating indicate that it was separated from the extension body after the substantial solidification. It is noted that Nishida et al. teaches a product formed by the same method as claimed (see col. 11, lines 25-51 and Figures 12-14). It is noted that the curing of Nishida et al. performs solidification by exposure to UV light.

It is also noted that the product must be patentable on its own merits. In re Stephens, 145 USPQ 656. In re Kern, 129 USPQ 345. The patentability of a product is based on the product limitations and not on the recited process steps. In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685.
